P R E F A C E.

IT being generally acknowledged, that a Directory in a mercantile city is one of the most useful Publications; in addition to which, the rapid sale the last met with, together with the great accession of new inhabitants to the city every year, with the frequent removals, have been sufficient inducements for the Editor to publish the present one.

To the Directory is subjoined a List of Duties payable on Goods, with all other Information respecting the Custom-House, interesting to merchants and all others concerned in mercantile transactions, with a further collection of useful matter.

From the general credit which this work gained last year, he flatters himself with meeting the same encouragement; in consequence he will be enabled to publish one annually, and which will be keeping on foot this valuable collection of genuine information.

The Subscriber is well aware of the almost impracticability of compiling a work of this nature without errors; but, from the confidence in those gentlemen who have been employed in the collection of the names, he trusts no errors will be found, or otherwise but few; for which he doubts not the indulgence of a generous Public.

CONSTITUTION

OF THE

UNITED STATES,

As passed in Convention, September 2, 1787.

WE, the People of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defence, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I.

Secl. 1. ALL legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

Secl. 2. The House of Representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several states, and the electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislature.

No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen.

Representatives and direct taxes shall be appointed among the several states which may be included in with this Union, according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each state shall have at least one representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the state of New-Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New-York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three.

When vacancies happen in the representation from any state, the Executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

The House of Representatives shall choose their Speaker and other officers ; and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

Sec. 3. The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, chosen by the legislature thereof, for six years ; and each senator shall have one vote.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year ; so that one third may be chosen every second year ; and if vacancies happen by resignation, or otherwise, during the recess of the Legislature of any state, the Executive thereof may make temporary appointments, until the next meeting of the Legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.

No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state for which he shall be chosen.

The Vice President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided.

The Senate shall choose their other officers, and also a President, pro tempore, in the absence of the Vice President, or when he shall exercise the office of President of the United States.

The Senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose, they shall be upon oath or affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside : And no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two thirds of the members present.

Judgment, in cases of impeachment, shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honour, trust or profit, under the United States ; but the party convicted shall, nevertheless, be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment, according to law.

Sec. 4. The times, places, and manner of holding election for senators and representatives, shall be prescribed in each state by the Legislature thereof : but the Congress may, at any time, by law, make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing senators.

The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

Sec. 5. Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business ; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner, and under such penalties as each house may provide.

Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behaviour, and, with the concurrence of two thirds, expel a member.

Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may, in their judgment, require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house, on any question, shall, at the desire of one fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

Neither house, during the session of Congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

Sett. 6. The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall, in all cases, except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States, shall be a member of either house, during his continuance in office.

Sett. 7. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills.

Every bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the President of the United States; if he approve, he shall sign it, but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journals, and proceed to re-consider it. If, after such reconsideration, two thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all such cases, the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill, shall be entered on the journals of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the President, within ten days, (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

Every order, resolution, or vote, to which the concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the President of the United States: and before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or, being disapproved by him, shall be re-passed by two thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

Sett. 8. The Congress shall have power,

To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises, to pay the debts, and provide for the common defence and the general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States.

To borrow money on the credit of the United States;

To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and with the Indian tribes ;

To establish an uniform rule of naturalization, and uniform laws, on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States ;

To coin money, regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coin, and fix the standard of weights and measures ;

To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States ;

To establish post offices and post roads ;

To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing for limited times to authors and inventors, the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries ;

To constitute tribunals inferior to the supreme courts ;

To define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offences against the law of nations ;

To declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water ;

To raise and support armies, but no appropriation of money to that use, shall be for a longer term than two years ;

To provide and maintain a navy ;

To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces ;

To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions ;

To provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the states respectively, the appointment of the officers, and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress ;

To exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever, over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular states, and the acceptance of Congress, become the seat of the government of the United States, and to exercise like authority over the places purchased by the consent of the legislature of the state, in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock-yards, and other needful buildings ; And

To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officers thereof.

Sec. 9. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the states now existing shall think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the year One Thousand Eight Hundred and Eight, but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in cases rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it.

No bill of attainder or ex post facto law shall be passed.

No capitation, or other direct tax, shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration herein before directed to be taken.

No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any state. No preference shall be given by any regulation of commerce or revenue to the ports of one state over those of another ; nor shall vessels bound to, or from, one state, be obliged to enter, clear, or pay duties in another.

No money shall be drawn from the treasury, but in consequence of appropriations made by law ; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States :—And no person holding any office of profit or trust under them, shall, without the consent of Congress, accept of any present, emolument, office, or title, of any kind whatever, from any king, prince, or foreign state.

Sett. 10. No state shall enter into any treaty, alliance, or confederation ; grant letters of marque and reprisal ; coin money, emit bills of credit ; make any thing but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts ; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, or grant any title of nobility.

No state shall, without the consent of Congress, lay any imposts or duties on exports or imports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws ; and the net produce of all duties and imposts, laid by any state on imports or exports, shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States ; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and controul of the Congress.

No state shall, without the consent of Congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops, or ships of war in the time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another state, or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

Sett. 1. The Executive Power shall be vested in a President of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the Vice President, chosen for the same term, to be elected as follows :

Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the Congress ; but no senator or representative or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each ; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed ; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the House of Representatives shall immediately choose by ballot one of them for President ; and if no person has a majority, then from the five highest on the list the said house shall, in like manner, choose the President. But in choosing the President the votes shall be taken by states ; the representation from each state having one vote ; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of a President, the person having the greatest number of the votes of the electors shall be the Vice President. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the senate shall choose from them by ballot the Vice President.

The Congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes; which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

No person, except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States, at the time of the adoption of this constitution; shall be eligible to the office of President; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

In case of the removal of the President from office, or his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the Vice-President, and the Congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation, or inability, both of the President and Vice-President, declaring what officer shall then act as President, and such officer shall act accordingly, until the disability be removed, or a President shall be elected.

The President shall, at stated times, receive for his services, a compensation, which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

Before he enters on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States."

Sett. 2. The President shall be Commander in Chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several states, when called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices, and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offences against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls, judges of the supreme court, and all other officers of the United States, whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law. But the Congress may by law vest the appointments of such inferior officers, as they think proper, in the President alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

The President shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

Sett. 3. He shall from time to time give to the Congress information of the state of the union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them, and in case of disagreement between them, with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he may think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers; he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

Sett. 4. The President, Vice-President, and all civil officers of the United States, shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of, treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

A R T. III.

Sett. 1. The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The judges both of the supreme and the inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behaviour, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services, a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

Sett. 2. The judicial power shall extend to all cases, in law and equity, arising under this constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more states, between a state and citizens of another state, between citizens of different states, between citizens of the same state claiming lands under grants of different states, and between a state and the citizens thereof, and foreign states, citizens or subjects.

In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be a party, the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction. In all other cases before-mentioned, the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction both as law and fact, with such exceptions, and under such regulations, as the Congress shall make.

The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury; and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as the Congress may by law have directed.

Sett. 3. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason, unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

The Congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attained.

A R T. IV.

Sett. 1. Full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of every other state. And the Congress may by general laws prescribe the manner in which such acts, records, and proceedings may be proved, and the effect thereof.

Sec. 2. The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states.

A person charged in any state with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice, and be found in another state, shall, on demand of the executive authority of the state from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the state having jurisdiction of the crime.

No person held to service or labour in one state, under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labour, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labour may be due.

Sec. 3. New states may be admitted by the Congress into this Union; but no new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state; nor any state be formed by the junction of two or more states, or parts of states, without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned, as well as of the Congress.

The Congress shall have power to dispose of, and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States, or of any particular state.

Sec. 4. The United States shall guarantee to every state in this Union, a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion; and on application of the legislature, or of the executive (when the legislature cannot be convened) against domestic violence.

A R T. V.

The Congress, whenever two thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or on the application of the legislatures of two thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress; Provided, that no amendments which may be made prior to the year One Thousand Eight Hundred and Eight, shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the 9th section of the first article; and that no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate.

A R T. VI.

All debts contracted and engagements entered into, before the adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution, as under the confederation.

This Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof; and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and judges in every state shall be bound thereby, any thing in the Constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding.

The senators and representatives before-mentioned, and the members of the several state legislatures, and all the executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several states, shall be bound by oath or affirmation, to support this Constitution: but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

A R T. VII.

The ratification of the convention of nine states, shall be sufficient for the establishment of this Constitution between the states so ratifying the same.

GEORGE WASHINGTON, PRESIDENT.

A pound of pure Gold is valued at fifteen pounds of pure Silver.

The Gold and Silver coins of Great Britain, France, Spain and Portugal, were allowed by law to be tendered in all payments, at the rates following, viz.

The Gold coins of Great Britain and Portugal of their present standard, at the rate of eighty-nine cents for one pennyweight; and those of France and Spain at the rate of eighty-seven cents for one pennyweight: the Spanish milled dollar, weighing not less than seventeen pennyweights and seven grains, at one hundred cents; and the Crowns of France, containing not less than eighteen pennyweights and seventeen grains at 110 Cents, but at the expiration of three years after the coining of Gold and Silver shall commence at the Mint of the United States, all foreign coins will by law cease from being legal tender, except Spanish milled dollars and parts thereof. And at the expiration of six months after cents and half cents to the value of 50,000 dollars shall have been issued, all other copper coins are forbidden, under the penalty of ten dollars, and the forfeiture of the pieces so offered.

By an act of Congress passed the 9th of February, 1793, all foreign Silver coins, except Spanish milled dollars and parts thereof, cease to be a legal tender for the payment of debts after the 15th of October, 1797; and all foreign Gold coins after the 31st of July, 1798.

ON THE
TONNAGE OF SHIPS OR VESSELS ARE IMPOSED THE
FOLLOWING DUTIES,

To wit—

ON ships or vessels of the United States when entered from any foreign port or place ; and when entered into a district in one state from a district in another state (other than an adjoining state on the sea-coa or on a navigable river ; and other than vessels duly licensed, employed in the coasting trade, or in the bank or whale-fisheries, which are exempt from paying tonnage, while so employed, more than once in a year,) having on board goods, wares, and merchandize, taken in one state, to be delivered in another, at the rate of six cents per ton. On ships or vessels built within the United States since the 20th July, 1789, but owned wholly or in part by foreigners, when entered from a foreign port or place, at the rate of thirty cents per ton ; on all other ships or vessels, when entered from a foreign port or place, at the rate of fifty cents per ton ; and on all ships or vessels not of the United States, when entered in one district from another District, having on board goods, wares, and merchandize, taken in one district to be delivered into another at the rate of fifty cents per ton.

To ascertain the tonnage of a ship, if the same be double decked, take the length thereof from the fore part of the main stem to the after part of the stern post above the upper deck ; the breadth at the broadest part above the main wales ; half of which breadth account the depth, deduct from the length three-fifths of the breadth ; multiply the remainder by the breadth, and that product by the depth, and divide the last product by ninety-five. If the ship be single decked, take the length and breadth as above directed ; take the depth from the under side of the deck plank to the ceiling in the hold ; and deducting from the length three-fifths of the breadth, multiply and divide as aforesaid.

Duties on tonnage must be paid within ten days after report of the cargo made to the collector ; and any master of a vessel leaving or attempting to leave a port without paying such duties, forfeits five hundred dollars.

DRAWBACKS AND BOUNTIES.

ON all goods, wares and merchandize (spirits, manufactured tobacco, snuff, and refined sugar, excepted) for which duties, on importation, to the amount of twenty dollars, shall have been paid or secured, there is allowed, if the same, within twelve calendar months, be re-exported to any foreign country, a drawback equivalent to the duties so paid or secured, deducting therefrom, as an indemnification for the expences which may have accrued by storage, fees of officers, and the like, one per cent.

On spirits, if the same amount to one hundred and fifty gallons, and be exported in vessels of thirty tons and upwards, an allowance, by way of drawback, for every gallon exported, equal to the impost per gallon, according to the respective proofs, deducting, for the purposes aforesaid, half a cent per gallon : And on spirits distilled within the United States, from imported molasses, an additional allowance of three cents per gallon, to balance the duty on that article.

On pickled fish of the fisheries of the United States, eighteen cents per barrel, and on other provisions salted within the said States, fifteen cents per barrel (provided the bounty amount to three dollars) at their exportation, as an equivalent for the duty on salt.

There is also an annual bounty payable on the last day of December, in lieu of a former allowance on dried fish, to the owners or agents of fishing vessels legally qualified and employed in carrying on the bank and other cod fisheries, and which shall be therein employed four months during the fishing season, reckoning from the last day of February to the last day of November, one dollar and twenty cents for every ton of the actual admeasurement of such vessels or boats, as are more than five, and less than twenty tons burthen, and shall have landed during the preceding season a quantity of fish, which when cured and fit for exportation, shall be equal to twelve quintals for every ton of her said admeasurement ; the allowance in this case to be accounted as part of the proceeds of the fares of the said boat or vessel, and to be so divided among the persons interested ; one dollar and eighty cents for every ton of the admeasurement of such vessels as are between twenty and thirty tons burthen : and three dollars for every ton of such vessels as exceed thirty tons burthen ; provided the allowance to any one vessel do not in a season, exceed one hundred and seventy dollars. The allowances in the two cases last mentioned are to be divided, three-eighths to the owners of the vessels, and five-eighths to the fishermen employed therein the preceding season, in such proportion as the quantity of fish by them respectively taken shall bear to the whole quantity taken on board such vessels during the said season.

Besides the above specified drawbacks and allowances, which entitle the exporter, &c. to the receipt of money, there are sundry other allowances, which tend to diminish the duty to the importer, &c. Such are the allowances for leakage on liquors, and for draught and tare on articles of weight.

For the leakage on all liquors upon which duties are payable by the gallon, including spirits distilled within the United States, there is an allowance of two per cent. according to the guage of the casks containing the same.

For draught, on any quantity to the amount of an hundred weight, or 112 pounds	lb.
On any quantity, from one to two hundred weight	1
From two to three hundred weight	2
From three to ten hundred	3
From ten to eighteen hundred	4
On any quantity above eighteen hundred	7
For tare, on every whole chest of bohea tea	9
On every half chest	70
On every quarter chest	36
On every chest of hyson or other green tea of the weight of seventy pounds or upwards, gross	20
On every box of other tea, of not less than fifty pounds, nor more than seventy pounds, gross	18
All other boxes of tea, according to their invoice	per C.
On coffee, in bags	2
In bales	3
In casks	12
On Pepper, in bales	5
In casks	12
On sugar, other than loaf, in casks,	12
In boxes	15
On all other goods according to the invoice.

It being lawful also in any case where the original invoice is produced, and the tare appears therein, the importer or consignee concurring, to estimate the tare according to such invoice.

The preceding are the principal cases in which drawbacks and premiums are recognized by Congress: of the benefit of which no one can avail himself without a careful adherence to the rules and restrictions of the law. Which restrictions, being enacted for the prevention of fraud, are very particular and explicit; any material departure from which, will not only deprive the party of the benefit of the premium or drawback; but expose him to forfeiture, and in some cases both of goods and vessel. We shall, in a concise view, collect and set forth the principal regulations on the subject, with the forfeitures annexed to the violation thereof, for the information of those who may not have had opportunity or leisure to attend minutely to the laws; referring such as wish for more particular information to the several acts of Congress relative to imports.

In case of the exportation of goods, wares and merchandize, the exporter must, previous to lading them on board any vessel for that purpose, give to the collector of the district, from which the exportation is intended to be made, twenty-four hours notice of such his intention, specifying therein the several articles intended to be exported, together with the casks, cases, chests, boxes, and other packages containing the same, and their respective marks, numbers and contents. And if they be imported articles, notice must also be given of the ship or vessel, in which the person for, or by whom, and the place from which they were imported, accompanied with proof by oath of the persons, including the exporter, through whose hands they have passed, respecting their due importation, and the security of the duties thereupon. Proof must also be made in respect to pickled fish, and salted provisions, that the fish are of the fisheries of the United States, and that the provisions were salted therein. The exporter must further make oath that the said goods are, bona fide, intended to be exported; and enter into bond with sufficient sureties, in a sum equal to the amount of the drawback, not to re-land them within the limits of the United States, as settled by the late treaty of peace.

These requisitions being complied with on the part of the exporter, and the goods inspected by the collector, and found to correspond with the notice and proof respecting the same, a permit is granted for lading them.

But the drawback thereon is not payable till six months after their exportation, a written certificate from two reputable merchants at the foreign port or place where they shall have been landed, accompanied with the oath of the master and mate of the vessel, certifying their delivery, being required previously to be produced to the collector, with whom the outward entry was made: unless when the landing of the goods is prevented by some unavoidable accident, as shipwreck; in which case a protest, in due form of law, made by the master and mate, or some of the seamen; or when no such protest can be had, the oath of the exporter (unless there is good reason to suspect the truth of the same) is permitted to be taken in lieu of such other proof.

These regulations being intended to prevent every kind of fraud, collusion, or deception, it is enacted, Sect. 59 of the "act to provide more effectually for the collection of the duties imposed by law on goods, wares, and merchandize imported into the United States, and on the tonnage of ships and vessels," That if any goods, &c. entered for exportation, with intent to draw back the duties, or to obtain any allowance given by law on the exportation thereof, shall be landed in any port or place within the limits of the United States as aforesaid, all such goods, &c. shall be subject to seizure and forfeiture, together with the ship or vessel from which such goods shall be landed, and the vessel or boats used in landing the same; and all persons concerned therein, shall, on indictment and conviction thereof, suffer imprisonment, for a term not exceeding six months.

In case also of the exportation of spirits, whether of foreign or domestic distillation, notice as aforesaid must be given to the proper officer of inspection, six hours previous to putting them on board any vessel for that purpose, of the exporter's intention to export them, of the number of casks, vessels, and cases containing them, and the respective marks thereof, the place where they are then deposited, the ship or vessel in which, and the place to which they are intended to be exported. He must also produce to the said officer the certificates which by law ought to accompany them, and make oath as aforesaid of his true intention to export the same, and proof of the duties being paid or secured, and enter into bond with two sufficient sureties, (the master of the vessel being one) in a sum equal to the value of the spirits, not to re-land them. After which, being duly inspected and branded, they must be laden on board the vessel in presence of the officer who inspected them: And if afterward unshipped or re-landed within the limits of the United States, or within four leagues of the coast thereof, unless the voyage shall not have been pursued, or shall have been altered, or in distress of weather, (which distress must be immediately notified to the principal officer of the customs, residing at the nearest port thereto) both the said spirits and the ship, with her tackle, apparel, and furniture, and all boats or vessels employed in unshipping or landing the same, and their tackle and furniture, are forfeited, and are liable to seizure by any officer of the customs or of inspection. The payment of the drawback is also in this case deferred till six months after exportation.

And in case of allowances on fishing vessels, where the boats or vessels are under twenty tons, an account of the weight of fish caught, the original adjustment and settlement of the fare among the owners and fishermen, together with a written account of the length, breadth, and depth of the boat, or vessel, and the time she has been actually employed in the fishery during the preceding season, must be produced to the collector of the district authorised to pay the said allowance, and sworn or affirmed to before him, in order to entitle the owner, his agent or lawful representative, to receive the same. And if any fraud or deceit in obtaining such allowance, shall, at any time within a year after paying it, appear to have been practised, the boat or vessel, upon which the allowance shall have been paid, is by law forfeited, if found within the district; otherwise the owner having practised such fraud or deceit, forfeits and is liable to pay one hundred dollars.

Where the vessels are of twenty tons or upwards, an agreement in writing or print must, previous to any voyage, be made between the skipper or master and every fisherman, expressing the terms of shipment; whether the same are to continue for the voyage only, or for the season; and that the fish or proceeds of such voyage or voyages, which may appertain to the fishermen, shall be divided among them in proportion to the quantity of fish by them respectively caught; to be also indorsed or counter-signed by the owner or his agent. Which agreement, together with a certificate, subscribed by the owner, his agent or lawful representative, and certifying on his or their oath, the particular day on which any vessel sailed on, or returned from the several voyages, which she may have made the preceding season, must, in like manner, be produced to the collector, before the said owner, &c. can be entitled to receive any allowance.

REVENUE LAWS :

Wherein the several parts of the acts are digested, and transposed under distinct heads, agreeably to the subjects with which they have relation.

1. Of the Duty of Masters of Vessels.

EVERY master of a vessel, bound to the district of Nottingham, must, on penalty of five hundred dollars, deposit with the surveyor of the port of Town Creek, a manifest of the cargo, unless he shall have previously delivered one to some officer of the customs coming on board ; bound to the district of Tappahannock, with the surveyor of the port of Urbanna ; to the district of Bermuda Hundred, or City Point, with the collector of Norfolk and Portsmouth, or of Hampton ; to the district of South Quay, with the collector of Edenton. Which manifest, the respective collectors and surveyors must, after registry, transmit duly certified, to the officer with whom entry is to be made.

Also, every master of a vessel, belonging wholly or in part, to citizens of the United States, must, on arrival from any foreign country, have an accurate and true manifest of the cargo on board ; and in default thereof, he forfeits the value of all goods not included in such manifest, unless due proof be made, that no part of the cargo had been unshipped since taken on board, and that such manifest had been lost, or mislaid, or defaced by accident, or was incorrect by mistake.

Which manifest, every master of a vessel, as aforesaid, must, on penalty of a sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, produce to the first officer of the customs, who shall appear on board after his arrival within four leagues of the coasts of the United States ; and also to the first such officer of the customs, who shall appear on board after his arrival in a district in which any part of his cargo is to be discharged ; delivering in either case, a copy thereof, by himself subscribed. The production of the manifest and receipt of the copy, such officer must certify respectively, on penalty of five hundred dollars; certifying on the original, the day and year when produced, and the delivery of a copy; and on the copy the day and year it was delivered. He must also transmit said copy to the collector of the district to which such vessel is bound.

If any part of the cargoes of such vessels, as laden with goods, and bound to the United States, have arrived within four leagues of the coast, be unladen previous to their coming into port, and being legally authorized to unlade, all the goods so unladen, and any vessel or boat into which they may be put are forfeited; and the master and mate of the vessel so unladen, forfeit, each, one thousand dollars; and every other person aiding and assisting, treble the value of the goods unladen.—These forfeitures are not, however, incurred in case of unavoidable accidents, necessity, or distress of weather, if duly notified and strictly proved.

Also, if any ship or vessel has arrived within the limits of a district of the United States, from a foreign country, she leaves or attempts to leave it, (unless to proceed to a more interior district,) previous to report and entry made, the master forfeits four hundred dollars. And the collector, naval officer, surveyor, or any revenue cutters may arrest and bring her back; unless the departure was occasioned by distress of weather, duress of enemies, or other necessity, which in either case must be strictly proved.

Further, every master of a vessel (ships of war and public packets excepted) must within twenty-four hours after his arrival in any port of the United States, (if the usual hours of business will permit) make report thereof to the chief officer of the customs at the port, and within forty-eight hours, a further report of the cargo, and deliver a manifest to the collector. In default of which, he forfeits one thousand dollars.

But masters of vessels, whereof only part of the cargoes is destined to any particular port of the United States, may, after paying or securing the duties of such part, and giving bond equal to the amount of duties on the remainder, that no part thereof shall be landed in the United States without due entry, proceed to the port or place of their destination.

And when the cargoes of any vessels are destined to ports in different districts, the masters thereof may proceed from district to district, paying in each district, the duties on such goods as may be delivered therein, and giving bond to the collector of the district where they first arrived, for their due entry in every other district, and also obtaining from the respective collectors, to whom any part of their cargoes may be reported, copies of such reports, and certificates of the quantity and particulars of the goods delivered.—Any master, in default of obtaining such copy and certificate, or neglecting to produce them to any subsequent collector, forfeits five hundred dollars.—But in case of spirits, such certificates must be had from, and produced to the officers of inspection.

Sea-stores being exempt from duty, must be designated as such in the master's report, and if excessive, the duty may be estimated, on the excess, the value whereof is forfeited, unless such duty be paid; as also treble the value of any articles thereof, if landed for sale. Vessels not bound to the United States, but putting in, in distress, the master and mate must, within twenty-four hours, make protest, setting forth the circumstances of the distress, before a notary public, or other person duly authorized ; and, within forty-eight hours, report of the cargo, as in other cases : and the distress being duly certified by the wardens of the port, permits may, if necessary, be granted for unloading ; the collectors causing the goods unladen to be stored, and, if damaged, or if necessary in repairing the ship, allowing them, the duties thereon being first paid, to be sold.

Masters of vessels bound to foreign ports, previous to obtaining a clearance, must deliver to the collector of the district from which they are about to sail, manifests of their cargoes ; and any master, departing without a clearance, forfeits two hundred dollars.

The penalty of false swearing, as well of masters of vessels, as of the owners or consignees of goods, or their factors or agents, is fine or imprisonment, or both ; not exceeding, in case of the former, one thousand dollars ; of the latter one year.

No master of a vessel arriving at any port, where there is a post-office, may report or make entry, till he has delivered to the post-master all letters in his possession, directed to any person within the United States.

II. Of the Duty of the Owners or Consignees of Goods.

Within fifteen days after the master of any vessel shall have made report to the collector, the owners or consignees, or their factors or agents must, on oath or affirmation, make entry with the said collector, of the goods consigned to them, particularizing the marks, numbers and contents of each package ; or if in bulk, the quantity and quality ; producing the original invoices, documents, and bills of lading, and declaring, that should any other goods afterwards appear to be consigned to them, they will make it known in order to a due entry thereof.

Articles exempt from duty, as clothes, books, house-hold furniture, &c. must be separately and distinctly entered by the owner or his agent ; who, according to the best of his knowledge, must make oath respecting such owner, his occupation, arrival or expected arrival ; and that the said articles are really intended for his, or his family's use, and not for sale ; which oath being endorsed on the entry, must be subscribed by the person making it. And in case such person be not the real owner of the goods, he must give bond, that a like oath, shall, within a year be had of the real owner, either taken before the collector with whom the entry is made, or produced to him duly executed. A copy of which oath and entry must be transmitted to the secretary of the treasury.

Report and entry must also be made on the re-importation of articles of the growth or manufactures of the United States. Such articles being duty-free, their identity must be carefully proved. For which purpose, the oaths of such persons as have knowledge of the facts are required, relative to the time of their exportation, the ship in which and the person by whom exported ; and if imported into any other district than that from which they were exported, a certificate from the collector of the district, certifying their exportation ; such certificate, however, being dispensed with, where it cannot be immediately produced, on giving bond for its production within four months.

No goods imported from a foreign country may be unladen till the duties, agreeably to an estimate made by the collector and naval officer (where there is one at the port) are paid or secured ; and a permit signed by the said collector, and countersigned by the said naval officer (where there is one at the port) granted; nor in any case, except by special licence unless between sun-rise and sun-set. Goods unladen in violation of these restrictions (as also the vessel and her tackle, where the value of the goods amount to four hundred dollars) are forfeited; and every person concerned therein incurs a penalty of four hundred dollars, of being advertised in the public papers, and incapacity of holding office for seven years. Also goods requiring to be weighed or gaged, may not, on penalty of forfeiture, be removed from the wharf where first landed, without the presence of a proper officer, till it be done.

Goods whereof the entry does not specify the particulars, are required to be stored till the particulars are ascertained, and the duties adjusted. And in all cases, where the final adjustments of the duties exceed the estimate thereof before taken the difference is to be paid to the collector; and where it is less than such estimate, the party having paid or secured them agreeably thereto, to be refunded or credited, as the case may be.

III. Of the duty of the Officers of the Customs.

THE officers of the customs are required to take oath and give bond for the faithful discharge of the duties of their respective offices; and for default of the former, they incur a penalty of two hundred dollars.

The collectors are empowered, in presence of the naval officer, where there is one, to administer the necessary oaths to masters of vessels, the owners of goods, &c. And collectors, naval officers, and surveyors of ports, may, in case of absence or sickness, act by deputy.

To superintend the delivery of goods, inspectors may be put and kept on board of vessels, while lying in port, or while going from district to district, may prohibit any goods from being unladen without a permit, and after sun-set, secure the hatches, which may not be opened, except in their presence, on penalty of two hundred dollars.—In like manner the officers of the customs, including those of the revenue cutters, may as well without as within their respective districts, go on board of all such vessels as, bound to the United States, have arrived within four leagues of the coast, may demand manifests, examine the cargoes, and designate any trunk or package, being separate from the rest of the cargo, sealing the same, if thought proper, and transmitting to the collectors of the districts to which such vessels are bound, a particular account thereof; and any such trunk or package, on arrival, not appearing, or the seal being broken, subjects the master to a penalty of two hundred dollars. Such officers may, in like circumstances, make seizures, where goods are legally forfeited; and if, in any case, impeded or resisted in the execution of their duty, the person offending forfeits a sum not exceeding four hundred dollars.

Entries, on the delivery of the cargoes of vessels, must, when such delivery is completed, be compared with the entries of the owners, or consignees, and the result endorsed on the respective entries, and subscribed by the officers making the comparison. And in case any package which shall have been reported, be missing, the master forfeits five hundred dollars; but may save the penalty by making due proof before proper authority, that no part of his cargo since taken on board, had been unshipped, except as contained in his report, or that such disagreement was by accident or mistake.

In case any goods, other than salt and coal, remain on board any vessel fifteen days after the master's report is required to be made, the same must, by the inspectors, be delivered into the custody of the collector: who keeping them at the risk of the owner, may, at the expiration of nine months, if claim be not previously made, cause them to be appraised by two reputable merchants (to ascertain the duties thereon) and sold at public auction, retaining the duties, and paying the overplus, if any, for the use of the owner, into the treasury of the United States. And when goods are damaged, or not accompanied with the original invoice, the duties may be ascertained by appraisement of two merchants, the collector choosing one, and the owner the other: or goods not accompanied with invoices, may, at the option and risk of the owner, be kept by the collector till the invoice be obtained. But goods entered, and not invoiced, are forfeited; and any collector suspecting invoices to be not according to the true value of the goods, may cause an appraisement thereof to be made, as in case of damaged goods.

On suspicion of fraud, packages, whereof entry has been made, may, in the presence of two or more reputable merchants, be opened and examined; and in case of disagreement, unless it be proved to have been by accident or mistake, such articles as disagree with their respective entries, are subject to forfeiture. Goods concealed, with intention to defraud the revenue, are also, if found, subject to forfeiture. And any person purchasing goods liable to seizure, knowing them to be such, forfeits double their value.

Officers of the customs, demanding or receiving other than legal fees, incur a penalty of two hundred dollars; and accepting a bribe or reward, for conniving at a false entry of vessels or goods, a penalty of not less two hundred, nor greater than two thousand dollars. And persons giving or offering such bribe or reward, incur a like penalty.

IV. Of the payment of Duties, &c.

IN all cases where the duties do not exceed fifty dollars, they must be paid immediately; but where they exceed that sum, they may be either paid immediately, or secured by bond, for their payment, if accruing on West India goods, other than salt, in four months; on salt in nine months; on wines in twelve months; and on all other articles, teas excepted, one half in six, one quarter in nine, and the remainder in twelve months: which bond may, at the option of the obligator, either include one or more sureties, or, without sureties, be accompanied with a deposit of part of the goods. And the duties on teas may be secured by a bond with sureties, payable in one year; or by bond, without sureties, in double their amount, payable in two years; the teas being deposited at the risk and expence of the importers, in warehouses agreed on between them and an inspector. And in case of deposit, any part of teas may be delivered to the owners on paying, or further securing the payment of the duties, by bond, with sureties to be paid, where the duties do not exceed one hundred dollars in four months; where they exceed one hundred, and do not exceed five hundred dollars, in eight months ; or where they exceed five hundred dollars, in twelve months. But the credit by the last-mentioned bond must not exceed two years from the deposit of the teas ; the collector then having power to cause so much thereof to be sold at public auction, as will discharge the arrears of duties still due, with cost of sale.

Bonds for duties, not being paid at the time they become due, the collectors are required to institute suits for their recovery ; and in case of insolvency, the debts due to the United States have priority.

V. Of the manner in which goods must be imported.

Spirits, wines, and teas, must, on pain of forfeiture, at least of the two former, be landed under the superintendence of some officer of inspection, to whom all permits from collectors for their landing must be previously produced.

Distilled spirits may not be imported in any cask which shall have been marked pursuant to any law respecting such spirits, on pain of forfeiture of the spirits, and the ship or vessel importing them. Nor may any distilled spirits, except arrack, and sweet cordials, be imported in casks of less capacity than ninety gallons, on pain of forfeiture. Ale, beer, or porter may not be imported in less casks than of the capacity of forty gallons, or in less packages than six dozen of bottles, on pain of forfeiture thereof, and of the ship or vessel importing them.

No goods, other than household furniture, and clothes of persons coming into the United States, for the purpose of becoming inhabitants, may be brought from a foreign country, into any district thereof, Louisville, Champlain, and South Hero excepted, in any other manner than by sea ; nor by sea in vessels less than thirty tons burthen, on pain of forfeiture of all such goods, and the carriages, teams, or vessels by which conveyed.

Oath of the Exporter.

I do solemnly that the goods, wares, and merchandize, herein specified, are bona fide to be exported, to that no part therein is intended to be reloaded within the United States, and that they have not been altered in quality while in my possession.

Oath of the Importer.

I do solemnly that the goods, wares, and merchandize above mentioned, were imported in the
 from on the 179 and the duties paid or secured thereon, pursuant to an act of Congress of the United States of America, in that case made and provided, and that they are the same in quantity, quality and value, as at the time of importation, to the best of my knowledge and belief.

When the Exporter has also been the Importer of the goods, the oaths may be put into one, beginning at the under one.

When the Exporter reports the goods for exportation, an entry must be made out agreeably to the foregoing form, and brought to the Custom-house at least 24 hours before the goods are shipped, as also the Importer and other persons through whose hands they may have passed, who being duly sworn as to the identity of the goods, and of their having been imported and entered according to law; and the fact being thus established, the Exporter will receive a permit to put them on board, &c.

If the foregoing is not strictly complied with, no drawback will be allowed.

ANY goods, wares, and merchandize, imported into the United States, may be exported from any of the ports at which ships and vessels from the Cape of Good Hope, or from any place beyond the same, are admitted to make entry, and entitled to the same drawbacks of the duties, as goods exported from the district into which they were imported, are entitled to; provided they be accompanied by a certificate from the collector of the District into which they were imported. And that in order to entitle any person to such certificate, he or they shall make out an entry of such goods, &c. specifying the marks and numbers, packages and contents, the names of the master and vessel in which, the time when, and the place from which they were imported, the names of the master and vessel in which they are intended to be laden, and the District in the United States to which they are destined; and such merchandize shall also be entered with the collector of the District into which they shall be brought from the place of their importation, previous to the landing or unloading thereof. The foregoing requisites having been complied with, the drawbacks are obtainable on merchandize exported to a foreign port on entry being made, and bonds given in the usual form.

POST-OFFICE ESTABLISHMENT.

JOSEPH HABERSHAM, Postmaster General, salary 2,400 dollars.

ROBERT PATTON, Postmaster, Philadelphia.

RATES OF POSTAGE.

Single letters carried by land, for any distance.

	Cents.		Cents.
Not exceeding 30 miles,	6	From 30 to 60 miles	8
From 60 to 100	10	100 to 150	12½
150 to 200	15	200 to 250	17
250 to 350	20	350 to 450	22
450	25

Double letters are double, and triple letters, triple of these rates. A packet of the weight of one ounce avoirdupois weight at the rate of four single letters; and in like proportion for one of a greater weight. News-papers one cent each for any distance not exceeding 100 miles; to any distance in the same state where printed, the same; and for any greater distance from one state to another, one and a half cent.

All letters or packets conveyed in private vessels four cents, with the addition of legal postage, if destined to any other place than where such vessel may arrive.

All letters and packets to and from the President, and Vice-President of the United States; to and from the Secretary of the Treasury, the Comptroller, the Auditor, the Register, the Commissioner of the Revenue, the Treasurer, the Secretary of State, the Secretary of War, the Postmaster-general, his Assistant and Deputies, are free of postage. And also all letters and packets, not exceeding two ounces in weight, to and from any Member of Congress, the Secretary of the Senate, and the Clerk of the House of Representatives, during any session of Congress, and twenty days after it. But no public officer can frank any letters, except his own; and any letter enclosed to any of them, and directed to any other person, shall be put into the Post office, and be charged with the usual postage.

Pamphlets and magazines, not exceeding fifty miles, one cent per sheet; not exceeding 100 miles, one and a half cent; and any greater distance two cents per sheet.

All letters brought to any Post-office half an hour before the making of the mail shall be forwarded therein; except in offices where the Post Master General thinks longer time necessary, which in no case shall exceed one hour: And all these times so fixed shall be notified to the public in one or more news-paper for six weeks ensuing said regulations.

All packets or letters water borne in packet-boats, provided by the United States, for every single letter 8 cents; for every double letter 16 cents; for every triple letter 24 cents; and for every letter or packet brought in any private vessel 4 cents, if delivered at the place where the vessel arrives; and if directed to any other place, the additional legal postage.—If any Postmaster, or other under him demand more than the legal postage, he shall forfeit for such offence 100 dollars, and be rendered incapable of future trust.

The master or commander of every vessel arriving in the United States, shall deliver to the Postmaster at the port where he arrives all letters under his care; except such as are directed to the owner or consignee, or directed to be delivered at the port where the vessel arrives; for which he shall receive from the post-master or deputy, 2 cents for each letter and packet.—Any person that shall set up a horse post or stage waggon, or packet boat on any route by land or water, where regular communication has been established by Congress; and shall receive any letter or packet, other than news papers, magazines or pamphlets, or letters directed to the owner of the conveyance, or to the person to whom any packet on board is directed, shall forfeit fifty dollars.

Way letters shall be received, if presented more than two miles from a Post-office, and delivered at the first office, subject to an additional rate of one cent; letters directed to persons living between Post-offices shall be delivered where directed, subject to the addition of two cents for the use of the carrier; unless the receipt and delivery of letters on the way, in the opinion of the Postmaster general, be incompatible with the time or manner of carrying, or the speed required.

If any person in any department of the general Post-office, shall secrete, embezzle, or destroy, any letter or packet entrusted to him, (except in the case that follows) shall be fined 300 dollars, or imprisoned six months, or both, according to the aggravation of the offence; and if said letter or packet contain a bank note, bill of exchange, warrant of the treasury, assignment of stock, letters of attorney to receive annuities or dividends, to sell stock, or to receive the interest thereof, letter of credit, bond, warrant, draft, bill or promissory note whatsoever for payment of money; or he shall take any of these articles out of a letter or packet, on conviction, he shall suffer death.

Every printer of a news paper may send one paper to a brother news printer within the United States free of postage.—Every printer or other person, who shall conceal a letter or other memorandum in writing in a news paper, or package of papers, shall be liable to a fine of 5 dollars. And if any of the persons employed in the department of the Post-office, shall detain, delay, embezzle, or destroy any news paper, magazine or pamphlet, with which he shall be entrusted, he shall forfeit 50 dollars for every such offence. And if any Postmaster (or other person) shall open or permit to be opened any mail of news papers not directed to his office (unless it is directed to a place where there is no office) shall forfeit 20 dollars.

Letters or packets left at any Post-office to be conveyed beyond sea, or to any other port of the United States by water, pay one cent. Letters delivered by letter carriers 2 cents at the Post-office one cent, in addition to the common postage.

In this advertisement I have marked the times at which letters must be left at the office to insure their going in the mail of the day, as all letters are to be marked—accounts of them entered in a book and transcripts of those accounts made out to send to the respective Post-masters.

As there are several places of the same name in the United States, the merchants and others are requested to be very particular in the direction of their letters ; distinguishing the States, and where it would otherwise be doubtful, the Counties, in which those places are situated. And when letters are not for a post-town, the nearest post-town to the place ought to be mentioned.

IN July 1797, the Yellow Fever again made its appearance in Philadelphia, and providentially for the city, it subsided so early as the October following. In respect to its origin, the various opinions which have been advanced, render abortive the intention of giving any satisfactory account. The melancholy scene which presented itself in the year 1793, induced many on the confirmation of its being again in existence, to quit the city, which certainly became a matter of prudence on their part, under the consideration that their stay could not afford any material comfort to the unhappy sufferers; but to their honor, it appears, that they were not lost to the sense of the misery attending it, as their humanity in pecuniary matters, were equally extended. It has been generally considered to have been imported in the Ships Hinde and Arethusa; but, placing confidence in the Letter written by Doctor Mease, dated the 16th of August, it appears that the idea, which has been held out, is without foundation, as he positively asserts, that on the arrival of said two ships, he went on board and found the crew of both to be in perfect health. It is a singular circumstance, from the inveteracy of the disease, that it should have been principally confined to Southwark, for it has not been made to appear, that there were many cases in any other part of the City or Liberties, except at Kensington, at which place several fell victims, the Fever being ascertained to exist, the general alarm which it occasioned, no doubt produced the most happy effect, as the health of the city was greatly promoted, by the persons who fled; for in all human probability, had the citizens continued, it would have raged equally as bad, as in the year 1793.

The Physicians, from their great attention to the unfortunate sufferers, merit from the citizens the warmest gratitude; and it must afford great pleasure to every feeling mind, through the Providence of God, they were enabled to succeed in preserving the lives of a great number, who were afflicted with it.

The Editor intended to have introduced a copious account of the Yellow Fever, had not MR. FOLWELL published one, and secured the Copy Right, which has deprived him the pleasure of inserting one.
